THIS WAR VICTIM MOTHER and baby believe "the only good Nazi is a dead Nazi". From such a dead Nazi, "Mom" obtained the overcoat which covers her and the baby. Millions of others in war-ravaged lands need all the serviceable used clothing you can give to the National Clothing Collection which will be carried on throughout Canada from October 1st to the 20th. The drive is sponsored by the Canadian United Allied Relief Fund and distribution to the liberated peoples of Europe will be under the direction of U.N.R.R.A.

Stealing From Starving

There will be enough meat in Canada. We are not rationing it because it is scarce; we are rationing it to save the lives of our allies. Those who are tempted to try to get more meat through resort to black markets must understand where that extra meat will come from. It will come from the mouths of starving people. They will be taking it from civilian allies who have given everything but their lives for victory. They will be taking it from people who habitually get less meat to eat in a month than we have in a couple of days. It will not be considered 'smart' in Canada to have more meat to eat than the law allows. It will not be so considered because decent Canadians will look with distaste upon those who will steal from starving people.

Must Register Farm Slaughterers

Before farmers slaughter livestock, they must register at the office of the nearest Local Ration Board.

Description and weight of slaughterings must be reported to the local ration board at the end of the month, and coupons to cover the meat must be surrendered.

If a farmer slaughters more meat than is required for his own household consumption, he may sell it to a neighboring farmer or to a person who possesses an authorized slaughter permit at the coupon rate of four pounds to a coupon. Sales to licensed slaughterers must not be lower than one-quarter of beef or one side of pork. This regulation makes no provisions for the sale of veal or lamb.

When licensed slaughterers permit holders purchase meat from a farmer under the above regulation, it will be his responsibility to immediately stamp the meat with his own slaughter permit number.

Radar

SCIENTIFIC PROGRESS was swift during the war, and there were many phenomenal developments in that field. Some of them will prove to be of value only for purposes of war, but others will have important peacetime uses. One of these is radiolocation, better known to the public as "radar". One of the most closely guarded secrets of the war, radar is generally believed to have contributed more than any other scientific factor to the Allied victory. The British Ministry of Information has recently published an interesting pamphlet on the history of this device, which it described as "the most novel and versatile weapon of the century". Originally designed for defense, radar proved also to be a powerful weapon of offense, and it is predicted that it will be "as valuable in peace as it has been revolutionary in war."

Had Many Uses In War At Sea

Radar played a big part in the success of the decisive Battle of Britain. In this connection, Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder has stated "if radar had not prevented the Germans from obtaining the element of surprise in the raids on England, I hate to think of where we might have been." Early in the war it was used for the location of enemy planes in the skies over, and approaching England, but later radar was made available for many other purposes. In naval warfare it was used to make possible the bombing of ships at sea, regardless of fog conditions. It was also used to perfect the "blind fire" technique in naval gunnery, and it played a part in the detection of enemy submarines and planes at sea. Many lives were saved by the use of radar in "air-sea rescue" operation and on "D" Day it was a highly important factor in the success of that great amphibious operation.

Tribute Paid To Canadians

In the closing months of the war in Europe, radar was used to overcome the effectiveness of the first flying bomb, and it was also used to successfully employed against the V-2 weapon, when Germany's collapse ended that menace. Now that it is no longer required for war, radar will still be used for many purposes. It will remove many of the hazards of air and sea travel during foggy weather, and it is believed that it may be put to use on motor highways to cut down the number of traffic accidents. Radiolocation was discovered and developed by British scientists, but credit is given by them to Canadian participation. In the manufacture of radar equipment and the training of highly specialized technicians, many thousands of whom served in Britain, Canada has made an important and valuable contribution to this great scientific development.

The Kindly Way

Abraham Lincoln Convinced Man He Was Unfit For Job

Abraham Lincoln, once found it necessary to repulse the efforts of a certain entirely unworthy man to obtain competent application for the post of doorkeeper of the White House. Any sensitive, but the President replied him gently and unhesitatingly, without hurting his feelings in this manner: "So you want to be doorkeeper of the House, eh?"

"Yes, Mr. President."

"Well, have you ever been a doorkeeper? Have you ever had any experience in doorkeeping?"

"Well, no actual experience, sir. Any theoretical experience, however, instructions in the duties and ethics of doorkeeping?"

"No, sir."

"Have you read any text on the subject?"

"No, sir. I'm afraid not, sir."

"Well, then, my friend, don't you see that you haven't a single qualification for this important post?"

"Yes, I do," said the applicant, and he took leave humbly, almost gratefully.

Wonder Drug

British Doctors Cure Many Ills With Penicillin

The Manchester Guardian, England's most influential newspaper, has today as a cue for editorializing, mentioned the use of penicillin. This is the first time that the British "Wonder Drug" has been mentioned in a newspaper. The use of penicillin has been known to doctors for some time, but it was not until recently that it was used on a child suffering from this illness by repeated injections immediately followed by a complete recovery.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q—We are being asked to keep the labels and sales slips of any merchandise we buy in case we have reason to complain about high price or poor quality. How do I go about registering a complaint?

A—First you should do what you have always done—discuss any unsatisfactory merchandise with your retailer. If he fails to do in order, he will make an adjustment for you and take the matter up with his supplier. If, however, the retailer or his customer do not feel they are satisfied with the results of this discussion they can give the facts to the local office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board for further check.

Q—I have had special meat in my diet. Can I get more meat coupons for this purpose?

A—Yes, however you must have a doctor's certificate which must state on it the amount of meat you will require for your special diet. This should be sent or taken to the nearest ration branch office.

Q—Our church group wants to have some children's clothing for the children's clothing to be sent to the UNRRA clothing drive. Could you tell us where we could get tips on how to make over cast-off clothes?

A—Remake Winkles is a booklet which will give you many valuable suggestions in the making over of clothing. You may find a guide book if you write to the Consumer Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, in your province.

Q—Some friends tell me I can get dairy butter without any coupons. Is this correct?

A—No. Dairy butter is rationed the same as creamery butter. One coupon entitles you to half a pound of either.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book in which you keep track of your ceiling prices, mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

Large Numbers Of People In England Are Buying Fish From Eastern Markets

Initial shipments of fish from Great Slave Lake, authorized by Ottawa this summer has arrived at Edmonton—100 tons in five refrigerated cars from Waterways. They had been carried 400 miles in cooler barges across Great Slave Lake and down the Slave and Athabasca rivers to the mouth of the lake, and then by rail to Edmonton. Eastern markets will get the bulk of the fish, which is being sold by McInnes Products Corp. holder of the fishing rights of the lake this summer. The fish is being sold in two million pounds. The present 100-ton shipment accordingly represents about a fourth of the season's catch.

The use of liver to cure night blindness was mentioned in manuscripts written about 2,000 years ago.

Empire tariff Preference May Be Reviewed

OTTAWA.—A well informed official in the capital recently expressed the opinion that imperial tariff preferences would be under review within a few months by committees of British commonwealth representatives.

He did not think there would be a full-scale imperial conference on such matters as in Ottawa in 1932 and which had a well-defined legal status. Instead, it likely would be a less cumbersome conference involving members of commonwealth governments and their staffs, the size depending on the number of economic questions to be studied.

Despatches from Washington have described the emphasis American negotiators are placing on a lessening of imperial preferences in any agreement between United States and the United Kingdom, with American financial assistance would be extended to enable Britain to meet her post-war difficulties.

Since the United States has free trade among its states and is free to trade against the rest of the world, British spokesmen have frequently stressed similarity that the countries which made up the British commonwealth should not be deprived of any trading advantages. They have argued through special tariff concessions among themselves, and that to force foreign nations, even though the empire nations are spread around the earth.

Notwithstanding any rights of commonwealth countries to have tariff preferences, the official is feeling here that the time has come to review them and to determine if the hope foreign nations also will reduce their tariff barriers.

Canada's attitude will be to inquire where the preferences it enjoys might be reduced and then leave it to the other commonwealth countries to decide whether they are desirous of changing any of the preferences which have helped them to more products in Canada.

In 1936, the last year before the war, Canada sold the remainder of the empire more than $500,000,000 worth of goods and services, less than half that amount. Therefore, with a shortage of dollar exchange in all other parts of the commonwealth, Canada would be hopeful nothing but a plan which would tend to increase the top-heavy trade balance that existed before the war. In fact Canadian trade officials are doing their utmost to find ways of reducing this balance by increased purchases from these countries.

FREE FROM SERVICE

R.C.A.F. Members Of Aircrew Reserve Have Been Released

OTTAWA.—Eleven thousand members of the R.C.A.F., transferred from active service to the air force's trained aircrew reserve when the duties of Germany lessened aircrew requirements, are now finally released from the service, Air Minister Gibson announced.

Even though their full documentation was completed when they were transferred to the trained aircrew reserve, they were not, until late last year, fully released. Mr. Gibson said, however, that now with announcement of their release from service, no action by the individual is necessary to assure his status.

The successful conclusion of the war had made it unnecessary for the air force to keep these men available. Mr. Gibson said in a statement. But their status was exactly equivalent to that of a member of the R.C.A.F. who had gone through the normal channels and been finally discharged.

All former personnel of the trained aircrew reserve, as well as all other members of the reserve, will shortly be given the opportunity to "re-engage" if they so desire, without continuing service during the transition period until September 30, 1947, the statement said.

CANADIAN FASHIONS

Retail Stores From Coast To Coast Will Display Toronto-Made Merchandise

Over 2,500 retail stores from coast to coast will show in the week between July 1 to 10, Toronto-made merchandise in their windows and store displays.

The Toronto Fashion Industries feel that they are producing fashions as smart and good as those being made in the world. Now that restrictions are being removed, we all want to see Canadian industry go ahead. So take a good look in the stores at this show.

WILL ARRIVE SHORTLY

OTTAWA.—Two further drafts of liberated Canadian prisoners of war from the Far East are due to arrive at San Francisco on July 13. Defence headquarters announced. The drafts will arrive on the vessels Joseph Dickman, carrying 13 officers and 32 other ranks, and the Admiral Hughes, carrying 13 officers and 147 other ranks.

JAPS IN KOREA BOSSSED BY U.S.
—Koreans who object to Japanese retaining public posts have been told by Lt.-Gen. John H. Hodge, commander of the U.S. 24th Army Corps, that the Jap officials in the U.S. occupation zone are merely carrying out their directives.

Discuss Plan For An Allied Japan Policy

LONDON.—Tentative plans for a December meeting of an Allied conference to discuss Japan have been presented by the Big Five council of foreign ministers, the Associated Press said it learned authoritatively. The meeting would be in Washington.

The proposal and that the Pacific war had been neither accepted nor rejected by the United States, reliable informants said, the news agency reported.

While the subject is not being discussed at formal sessions, it forms an important background for the meeting. The subject is not being discussed at formal sessions, it forms an important background for the meeting.

Authoritative sources said the British plan to put forward several weeks ago had withdrawn later, the AP added, saying pressure exerted by the Dominions, particularly Australia, forced the British cabinet to restore its support of the measure.

In view of difficulties with the Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov demanded that the council set up an Allied commission to lay down policy for Gen. MacArthur. His move came after Washington announced that the United States would be supreme in deciding Japanese occupation plans.

The United States secretary of state, James F. Byrnes, refused to discuss the question, saying he was unprepared and that the Pacific was not on the Big Five agenda.

In view of difficulties with the Soviet Union over matters directly affecting British Mediterranean interests, Britain is expected to have decided to go along with the United States in the Pacific and abandon its request for a control commission meeting in Washington.

It was learned from officials here that the Australians, objecting to the change in British policy, delivered a message to the British cabinet that they would insist on the right to participate in the determination of occupation policy.

According to reliable reports, Britain reconsidered and decided to request once more establishment of a control commission.

WORKERS NEEDED

Campaign For Fifty Thousand Men For Work In Lumber Camps

OTTAWA.—Labor Minister Mitchell announced a campaign to obtain 50,000 additional workers for woods operations.

"Men are needed for woods work of various kinds pretty well across Canada," Mr. Mitchell said. "The heaviest demands are in Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia, although some men are required also on the prairies and in the maritime provinces. In locating men we shall hope to secure applicants from all parts of Canada, not only from the areas in which woods operations are carried on."

WANT RAILWAY

Suggests Line From Peace River To The Pacific Coast

OTTAWA.—The opening of Western Canada's Peace River to the Pacific coast was urged in the Commons by Rev. William Irvine, C.C.P. member for the British Columbia constituency.

The district needed the railway and it was time the country adopted a national railway policy.

OPEN HEALTH CENTRE

OTTAWA.—Veteran Minister Mackenzie announced that Canada's first veterans' health and occupation centre has been opened in the city. The centre covers 200 acres, facing the Rideau river and adjoining Rideau Park. It is a similar centre will be established later at Halifax, Saint John, N.B., Toronto, London, Ont., Winnipeg and Vancouver.

AIR FORCE MEN

More Than 36,000 R.C.A.F. Personnel Registered Since War Began

OTTAWA.—More than 36,000 R.C.A.F. personnel have been registered since May 1 this year, and if the present rate of entry is maintained it is expected that, except for those required for the occupation air force, all Canadian air force men will have been brought home by next March 31. Air Minister Gibson said in a statement.

In addition to the 36,000 already home, another 3,000 air force men were expected to reach Canada by Oct. 1, the statement said, adding that in repatriation was "proceeding at a satisfactory rate" with full advantage being taken of all shipping accommodations.

The minister said his statement was occasioned by reports that radar personnel were not being repatriated as fast as others. In answer to this he said that because 3,500 of the 4,500 R.C.A.F. radar personnel overseas were serving with R.A.F. units when V-E Day came, the initial rate of repatriation for them was not as high as the average "but this situation has been overtaken."

The disposition of radar personnel outside Canada did get somewhat better after V-E Day but since then 1,068 radar personnel had come home. It was anticipated that by the end of November all radar personnel from R.A.F. units will have been returned to the R.C.A.F. "at which time all those low priority personnel required for the occupation air force will have been selected and the balance will then be available for repatriation."

APPROVES PROGRAM

Admiral Halsey Urges Free Hand For MacArthur In Japan

HONOLULU.—Admiral William Halsey urged that Gen. MacArthur, Allied supreme commander, be given a free hand to carry out the occupation of Japan.

Admiral Halsey said Gen. MacArthur is carrying out a program that will prevent Japan from ever rising above a fifth-rate power. He addressed a civic reception for the covered Allied military personnel.

The admiral, whose wartime remarks about the Japanese cabinet, with invective, explained he had been ordered not to say anything disagreeable about his recent adversaries in the Pacific.

But his voice was tense with emotion as he described the death of released American prisoners as a "result of brutal, heath" treatment.

The United States secretary of state, James F. Byrnes, refused to discuss the question, saying he was unprepared and that the Pacific was not on the Big Five agenda.

HARVEST DELAYED

Owing To Cold, Wet Weather In Many Districts

OTTAWA.—Cold, wet weather has delayed the 1945 harvest on the prairies and unless a period of good drying weather occurs within the next few days damage may be "much more extensive," the news agency said. The Dominion bureau of statistics reported.

In the last 14 telegraphic reports on crop conditions in the prairies, the bureau said reports from all sections indicate "appreciable" postponement of the harvest owing to light and heavy rains and, in some districts, snow. Frosts have occurred in the northern parts of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta but the damage reported to date has not been extensive.

Some spreading is reported and in those areas where the harvest is late it is expected that grades will be slightly lower owing to bleaching. Late crops, such as corn, potatoes and sugar beets in Manitoba are being retarded through cold weather. Market garden crops also are adversely affected.

Pastures have benefited and livestock are reported to be in good condition. The feed grain crop, however, is disappointing and the delay to the harvest will further aggravate this situation through deterioration in quality.

CITIZENSHIP BILL

Is Expected To Be Presented To Parliament Soon

OTTAWA.—Provision of Canadian citizenship under a bill expected to be presented at the current session of parliament will not deprive Canadians of their right to a British citizen, it was learned.

Under the legal change Canadians would be able to describe themselves as such, rather than as British citizens in a census and Canadian passports would take on a new significance.

One of the effects of the change would be to enable Canadian women who marry non-Canadians to elect whether they should remain Canadians or adopt the nationality of the husband.

DISMANTLE GERMAN PLANTS

U.S. Forces In Germany To Destroy Industrial Plants

WASHINGTON.—U.S. General Eisenhower ordered that five big German industrial plants be dismantled for reparations. Among them were the Kugelfischer Geer Schaefer company at Schweinfurt, largest ball-bearing plant in Europe; and the Brennecker shipyard at Bremen, one of the largest in Germany.

Equal Rights Are Wanted For Framing Peace

LONDON.—Australian Foreign Minister H. V. Evatt said that all the governments must have a share in the framing of the peace which cannot rightly be limited to the five powers or to the council of foreign ministers.

Evatt made a vigorous bid at a press conference for Australia's rights, at least equal to those of France and Russia, in the peace conference.

He voiced Australia's demand for a "fair go" in the discussion of world peace. He said British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin had been "very prominent in advocating claims put forward by Australia and other elite belligerent countries" claiming equal rights in the peace conference.

His invitation to the one session of Sept. 18 to a discussion of equal rights—the same rights extended to the five powers and the United Nations—are entitled to be treated differently than defeated enemies."

He revealed that for collective invitations to the dominions did not extend beyond the single session of Sept. 18. Such procedure he said, is unsatisfactory not only to Australia but to New Zealand, New South Wales, and other dominions. Representations are being submitted.

OTTAWA.—The commonwealth representatives from the office of Prime Minister Mackenzie King on reports received from the Allied conference in London have been advanced for a December meeting of an Allied control commission.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King himself will not leave for London, however, that he planned to visit London soon if he could get away. He is the only sound basis for a peace shortly for talks in the British capital with Prime Minister Attlee, Foreign Secretary Bevin and other members of the British government.

Mr. Mackenzie, Col. R. Maclean, who has already expressed the belief that procedure being followed in the drafting of the terms of peace settlement in London were not particularly to the liking of the Canadian government or to the governments of the other dominions.

FACILITIES POOLED

Canadian And U.S. Ships Bringing Liberated Men From Pacific

MONTREAL.—Col. R. Maclean, head of the army public relations branch, said that the hospital ship, the U.S.S. LST-1166, was en route to the Far East to repatriate Canadian liberated prisoners of war, and "I would say that the great majority of our men will be back in Canada within a matter of weeks, perhaps in only a month."

Col. Maclean, who recently returned from Japan, said that the Canadian and United States governments were pooling their hospital ship facilities in order to expedite the return of liberated prisoners of war ready to return to Canada. The return of men embarked on an American ship that was not fitted would be placed aboard returning to Canada.

MAKING PROGRESS

Occupation Forces In South East Asia Are Disarming Japs

KANSAI, Ceylon.—Smooth progress in disarming the 480,000 Japanese prisoners in the South East Asia theatre is being reported. In some cases having completed disarmament in advance of the date ordered.

Besides disarming the Japanese, the main job of British and Indian occupation forces in South East Asia is command of recovery of Allied prisoners of war and internees. On completion of these tasks they will withdraw from countries such as Java, Sumatra, and Indo-China, which were not under the British flag before the war.

The principle will guide withdrawal of Australian forces from Borneo, Celebes and Dutch Timor.

Have Been Reverted To Avoid Panama Canal Tolls

LONDON.—The ministry of transport announced that ships from New Zealand and Australia had been rerouted to avoid the Panama canal, where tolls had been paid in advance.

The ministry said ships from New Zealand would be sent generally around the Cape of Good Hope and would travel through the Suez canal. Australian coal-burners will be sent around the Cape of Good Hope and all burners will go through Suez.

GOOD CONDUCT BADGE

OTTAWA.—The navy announced that the good conduct badge, representing the highest standard of conduct by a sailor at sea, will be worn by ratings in the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service. Women will receive the badge if they pay attention to the rules and are granted men for the badge. It is worn after three years of good conduct.

Equal Rights Are Wanted For Framing Peace

LONDON.—Australian Foreign Minister H. V. Evatt said that all the governments must have a share in the framing of the peace which cannot rightly be limited to the five powers or to the council of foreign ministers.

Evatt made a vigorous bid at a press conference for Australia's rights, at least equal to those of France and Russia, in the peace conference.

He voiced Australia's demand for a "fair go" in the discussion of world peace. He said British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin had been "very prominent in advocating claims put forward by Australia and other elite belligerent countries" claiming equal rights in the peace conference.

His invitation to the one session of Sept. 18 to a discussion of equal rights—the same rights extended to the five powers and the United Nations—are entitled to be treated differently than defeated enemies."

He revealed that for collective invitations to the dominions did not extend beyond the single session of Sept. 18. Such procedure he said, is unsatisfactory not only to Australia but to New Zealand, New South Wales, and other dominions. Representations are being submitted.

OTTAWA.—The commonwealth representatives from the office of Prime Minister Mackenzie King on reports received from the Allied conference in London have been advanced for a December meeting of an Allied control commission.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King himself will not leave for London, however, that he planned to visit London soon if he could get away. He is the only sound basis for a peace shortly for talks in the British capital with Prime Minister Attlee, Foreign Secretary Bevin and other members of the British government.

Mr. Mackenzie, Col. R. Maclean, who has already expressed the belief that procedure being followed in the drafting of the terms of peace settlement in London were not particularly to the liking of the Canadian government or to the governments of the other dominions.

Canadian And U.S. Ships Bringing Liberated Men From Pacific

MONTREAL.—Col. R. Maclean, head of the army public relations branch, said that the hospital ship, the U.S.S. LST-1166, was en route to the Far East to repatriate Canadian liberated prisoners of war, and "I would say that the great majority of our men will be back in Canada within a matter of weeks, perhaps in only a month."

Col. Maclean, who recently returned from Japan, said that the Canadian and United States governments were pooling their hospital ship facilities in order to expedite the return of liberated prisoners of war ready to return to Canada. The return of men embarked on an American ship that was not fitted would be placed aboard returning to Canada.

Clothing Drive

Canadian people have gone through five and a half years of war with comparatively few hardships. Most Canadians have been well clothed and well fed.

The situation in Europe is entirely different. Millions of people of that unfortunate continent are poorly clothed and half starved.

A drive for spare clothing for European people now is under way in Canada. Dig into your closets for any clothes you can spare and support this drive to help Europe's unfortunates.

Extra Sugar Allowed Coal Miners

Extra allotments of sugar have been given to all coal miners in the United States.

Further recognition of sugar as an energy food came from San Francisco and Denver areas where the first experiment was conducted recently. While Sugar Facts has no definite information on actual results it must be assumed they were beneficial as the plan has been extended to all mining regions in the States.

The United Kingdom and liberated Europe rely on Canada for 150,000,000 lbs. this year.

still to be shipped.

The United Kingdom and liberated Europe rely on Canada for 114,000,000 lbs. this year.

We supplied only 44,000,000 lbs. to August 31.

In most liberated European countries, there is a desperate shortage of meat.

As a great food-producing nation, Canada must, can — and will — help to meet the emergency.

The job will not be finished at the year's end. Food scarcities in Europe will continue until the next harvest.

How soon can we bridge the gap?

Livestock marketings are normally at their heaviest in the last four months of the year.

If we are to help feed the hungry peoples of devastated Europe, this is the time to make our greatest effort.

To do our part, we must reduce our own consumption of meat and also assure that everyone in Canada gets a fair share.

That is why rationing is necessary.

This year, Europe is relying on Canada for a minimum of 789 million pounds of beef, pork and canned meat.

Up to the end of August, only 479 million pounds had been sent.

The producer who slaughters, the retailer who sells, the consumer who buys and eats—they all play a vital part.

AS A CONSUMER, HERE IS HOW YOU CAN CO-OPERATE

1. Try to plan your meat purchases before leaving home by determining what cuts you intend to buy and their approximate weights.
2. Make sure you have enough valid coupons and tokens to cover your proposed purchases by referring to the Consumer Coupon Value Chart and the Coupon and Token Calculator. Copies may be obtained from your Local Ration Board or Ration Branch.
3. Know the dates your "M" coupons become valid.
4. Do not buy more meat than you really need.
5. Avoid shopping at rush hours.
6. Be patient. Remember — your butcher may have inexperienced help.

Opinion Of Scientist

Believes Atomic Bomb Should Not Have Been Dropped On Cities

Prof. M. P. G. Phillips, a noted physicist in development of the atomic bomb, asserted that scientists who developed the weapon would have used it as a military and political tool.

He predicted atomic energy would be used industrially within 10 years and that the nuclear energy would replace all other forms.

He told a service club (Rotary) in Birmingham, England, that he thought scientists were more horrified than anyone else when the bombs wrecked two Japanese cities.

"Scientists believed this weapon could have been used against Japan very effectively without dropping it on a city," said Prof. Phillips, professor of physics at the University of Birmingham. "Intensive propaganda by wireless and leaflets would have warned the Japanese that one of these weapons would be dropped."

He said if this failed, the next step should have been to use it, for instance, one of the islands in Tokyo Bay which were naval bases and a city should have been destroyed only as a last resort.

He said there was no defence against the bomb and described the idea that Great Britain and the United States, or any other countries, could control the bomb by keeping the process secret as "just rot."

The atomic bomb had the equivalent explosive force of 20,000 tons of TNT. He was confident that the atomic bomb could be made with an explosive force of 1,000,000 tons of TNT and subsequently of 10,000,000 tons of TNT.

Any industrial country could have the bomb in five years and any determined industrial country could have it in two. Control of the bomb could only be brought about by some sort of mutual agreement.

Using Peach Fuzz

United States Firm Requires Large Quantity For New Product

You have heard about packing houses utilizing every bit of the pig but the squeal.

Now it seems that every bit of the peach, including the fuzz, is to be put to use.

L. A. Boyd, New York horticulturist and officer of the Michigan Fruit Growers, Inc., has received a letter from a firm of industrial research chemists, saying it is developing a product that requires large quantities of peach fuzz. The chemist asked where large quantities of the fuzz could be purchased.

"I cannot estimate the fuzz available, but you would be surprised at the amount," Boyd says. "Seven or eight exchanges in the peach industry operate peach defuzzing machines and end the day with a large supply."

SHOCKING FIGURES

The Ottawa Journal says it is shocking to read that in Canada last year 311 children died of diphtheria, that cases and fatalities showed a marked increase over the two preceding years. It is shocking because immunization against diphtheria is harmless, effective, and everywhere available. Diphtheria could be made as rare as smallpox if we used against it the knowledge and means we possess.

THOSE NEVER DID MAKE THE GRADE—Memo to Canadian servicemen in the Pacific. Relax, fellows. Those jungle coffins never did make the grade. According to Canadian hairdressers, girl friends and wives aren't keen about those Burmese bumps and spiral slicks you did. "Hollywood is still the big influence," one expert stated. "Soft, romantic waves—the glamour stuff—that's our stock in trade." "Canadian girls are just a little conservative," another beautician said. "We haven't had one customer ask for 'active infatuations.' Casual hair-do, going under titles such as 'neat slants,' 'romantic height' or 'top lock curls,' are most popular with the young set. Curls are strictly passe."

Caused By Weather
Watch Repairs Say Thunderstorm Will Cause Main-Spring

If the main-spring in your watch is broken, the odds are two to one that a stray thunderstorm is to blame.

Leading jewellers in Columbus, Ohio, and watch repairers have aired their theory that main-springs break most frequently after a thunder-show.

Sidney C. Howard, a watch repairer for 38 years, says that the rising change in climate and atmosphere after a thunderstorm caused the main-spring to contract and break. "The same thing sometimes happens to a pocket watch which is removed from a warm pocket and left to stand unopened in a cold room during a winter night."

Robert Smith, public relations director for the Battelle Memorial Institute at Columbus, says that although the institute has not conducted any experiments along this line, metallurgists agree that a change in temperature affects metals.

He adds that he found that when placing a wrist watch on a cold window sill after it had been next to body temperature all day the watch usually stopped running but did not break. "The main-spring ordinarily did not break."

Clocks, however, escape the curious quirk of nature, jewellers say, because clocks have heavier main-springs. Ruby Rhodes, explains that sometimes delayed reaction to the weather postone breakage of a main-spring from one to ten days after a thunderstorm.

James Hayden, who repairs watches, says that main-springs usually are broken by being wound too tightly. He points out that most watches have safety devices which prevent excessive winding.

"We can only do it once," he said, "but first shipment of bananas in five years after in 1946 from Jamaica. The first oranges to arrive here since V-J Day are due from South Africa, he said."

Practically Fireproof

High Octane Fuel Demonstrated New York Office Building

A new high octane fuel is practically fireproof in the sense that it is slow to ignite in the open, resists its release of power until injected into a motor cylinder. That a demonstration of its safety was made in a New York office building should be ample proof of its makers belief in its ability to resist ordinary fire.

Until its temperature is raised to 100 degrees Fahrenheit the fuel does not give off the vapor required for ignition by flash fire or by a spark. That quality should add appreciably to the safety of flying, since it practically eliminates the danger of fire following the crash of a plane. Often it is true that few of the passengers in a crash will care whether there is a consequent fire, but sometimes it is not.

That the fuel is to be fed by injection and vaporized by heat generated during its compression indicated that the motor built to use it will be a cross between the present conventional type and the Diesel. Do not expect it soon in the automobile—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE CHRISTIAN WAY OF LIFE

Memory Selection: Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself. Luke 10:37.

Lesson: Matthew 22: 36-39; Mark 12: 28-34; Luke 10:28-37; Devotional Reading: Colossians 3: 12-17.

The Text Explained With Comments

The Christian Way of Life is the Way of Love. A certain lawyer stood up and made trial of Jesus, sought to elicit from him an answer that would offend scribbles to moral clerics. The lawyer's question, "What shall I do to inherit eternal life, meant to him, 'What facts, prayers, sacrifices are essential, for he believed that eternal life would be his reward for spiritual acts. The phrase "eternal life" was in use among the Jews before Christ's times, and would be familiar to scribes, but the New Testament enriches the content of the life. "In the Synoptic Gospels it is regarded as a future possession to be had after death; thus here the lawyer speaks of it as a present possession, and it is a present experience of the people of God, and both in the Fourth Gospel and in John's Epistles it is presented to us as a spiritual condition, the divine life in the soul" (Walter F. Adeney).

In his turn Jesus asked the scribe, "What is written in the law?" How ready, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself." (Leviticus 19:18. In the incident recorded in Mt. 22:36-39 and Mark 12:28-34 (which is also assigned for our lesson today), it is Jesus himself who puts these two statements from different parts of the Old Testament. One cannot help surprise at finding that Luke credits a mere scribe with such a ready answer.

Jesus commended the scribe's answer and said, "Thou doest thus, and thou shalt live." The scribe, wishing to show that he had not asked a question so simple that it could be thus quickly disposed of, quickly said, "And who is my neighbor?" In Romans 13:8 we read, "He that loveth his neighbor has fulfilled the law," where the Greek words translated "neighbor" are "ten stonem, the other."

The other" is a good definition for "neighbor." To teach the arch this meaning, Jesus told him the parable which we call The Parable of the Good Samaritan.

There would be no cessation in the search for proof that Adolf Hitler is dead. First and foremost, the world must be satisfied that he is not hiding somewhere, to pop out at some opportune moment and try to rally the forces of aggression around him. There is, however, another danger that is almost more serious.

Unless proof of his death can be secured, the way will be open for impersonators to trade on his influence. There would be nothing to prevent some ambitious little maniac, a few years hence, growing a funny mustache and suddenly appearing, claiming to be the Fuehrer. That would bring Hitler to us in a very real way, for there would be thousands gullible enough to follow such a pretender.—Windsor Star.

OUR COMPLETE
SHORT STORY—
GIRL FROM RANGOON

By ROSS RANNEY
McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Pete was stewed—inferiorly and indignantly stewed. His expression was that of a dead haddock, but his careful progress resembled the stiff, ungainly gait of a mechanical man. He simply followed the direction of his toes—which led him unerringly to Pete.

As Pete—squat, stout and unlovely—made his labored way through the circus camp, one instinct alone remained: Walk—till you've reached this off—or you'll wake up in a dream where you aren't even an elephant's man.

But Pete craved companionship. He would annex Babe and compel her to stroll with him in the still of the night.

No doubt it was discomforting to Babe to be rudely awakened at a time when all good elephants are asleep. Possibly she had been dreaming of her childhood days in India, where she'd roamed the jungle, a minor member of a noble harem, ruled over and guarded by a mighty elephant. But she blinked her little eyes and followed Pete unquestioningly, somewhat annoyed, perhaps, by the odor of his cheap soap.

She must have guessed that something was wrong. There was no bustling activity such as attends the breaking up of a circus camp, no harem of band to herald a parade, in which Babe would pursue her lumbering pace, holding court to the tail of the elephant alone. And the lack of intelligence hint to her that this particular son leading her away into the night was Pete, and yet, in some mysterious sense, not Pete at all? How was the gentle, philosophical Babe to explain the particular brand of firewater Pete had imbued had struggled in him, the Jekyll and Hyde into being the vindictive Mr. Hyde?

They moved ponderously into the night. Babe undulated her prehensile trunk and rested it carelessly upon Peter's shoulder, touching his cheek lightly with the delicate, finger-like tabs at the end. As the fumes of the breath reached her—offensive and unfamiliar, Babe halted in her tracks.

Pete, in no mood to brook opposition from so inferior a creature as an elephant, turned and showed her with thick-necked abuse, tugging viciously at the big ear just within his reach. Still Babe refused to budge. And her continued resistance drove Pete, in his truest form of mind, into a frenzy.

Ordinarily he would have better judgment than to tiff with the dignity of a full-grown elephant, however gentle. But Pete was filled with the stuff that inspires the true mouse to beat upon its breast and cry: "Bring on your fight!"

With his horny fist he deliberately hung one on the only vulnerable spot in the lowered head—the space between the eyes.

Babe backed away, whetting with surprise and displeasure. A normal man would have realized that Pete's next move was practically the equivalent of writing his own epitaph. But Pete was now fully equipped with the tools of the trade. Removing the cigar from his mouth he pressed the glowing end against Babe's sensitive trunk.

With a squeal of pain and rage, Babe's tentacles left her. She turned to protest. It was Pete's good fortune, then, that Babe was a member of the fierce African species, with the huge fanlike ears and cruel ivory tusks. Babe was right in the range, and her tusks, such as they were had been removed.

Babe had never been a mother, but she was in the massive brain there lurked, apparently, a memory of a sort of punishment visited by mother elephants upon their unruly offspring. Coiling her mobile trunk, she released it like a spring, delivering what probably seemed to her little more than a love tap, but which to Pete, crawling and gasping, heaving in the end. And Babe's slow rise left her.

With his last remaining ounce of strength Pete rolled over on his back and lay in the eerie light of the approaching dawn staring into the angry little eyes—breathing, no doubt, the particular version of "Now I Lay Me." But his punishment was not complete. Gashing with those fanlike tabs the burning cigar from which it had fallen, he pressed the fiery tip against the cheek of the unhappy Pete.

Screaming and writhing, but now alone, Pete felt himself being lifted in the coil of that terrible trunk. At the memory of a similar occurrence he had once witnessed, Pete pined out loud.

Babe seemed to realize at once that the hateful stranger had now treated her no inhumanly had now made her friend's body. With this knowledge her rage vanished. True enough, Pete seemed to have gone temporarily "muzzed," but that was all over now. Moreover, he appeared to be ailing, and was possibly in pain.

Elephants are known to be very sympathetic. Babe had had her own miseries from time to time—and she knew what to do. Snugging Pete's little body shift in the coil of her trunk—she tenderly bore her poor, sick keeper straight to the circus vet.

As Pete—squat, stout and unlovely—made his labored way through the circus camp, one instinct alone remained: Walk—till you've reached this off—or you'll wake up in a dream where you aren't even an elephant's man.

But Pete craved companionship. He would annex Babe and compel her to stroll with him in the still of the night.

Giant Warships

New United States Navy's New Big For Panama Canal
The United States Navy's new 45,000-ton aircraft carriers, biggest warships afloat, are to be built to pass through the Panama Canal. In order to reach the Pacific they must round Cape Horn or sail east.

Confirming this fact, naval sources said it is not a case of a man building a house, but of a house being built to take through the door. It is simply recognition that the canal, as a waterway in naval construction, is outmoded.

The three behemoths are the Midway, already commissioned; the Franklin D. Roosevelt, launched but not yet christened; and the Coral Sea, still under construction.

Supplemental keels, begun before the war, are now being completed. They eventually permit the carriers to get through the canal.

Counter Weapons

Produce Properties Capable of Destroying Flares or Rockets
The London Daily Express and that British and United States scientists have developed counter-weapons to the atomic bomb which are in advanced stages of development.

Chapman, Pincher, the paper's science writer, reported that the principles of British radar, German rockets and American jets were being combined to produce projectiles capable of destroying flares or rockets carrying atom bombs which are at great heights.

He said the new defense weapon also would destroy the mechanism of the atomic bomb or bomb before they exploded in mid-air.

PEARS ARE PLEASING
At this season one need look no further than the nearest fruit market for inspiration in planning meals that will please the family. These quantities of ripe-checked pears meet the eye and immediately the housewife can think of several ways in which this popular fruit may be served.

For breakfast, fresh pears baked or sliced raw over the crisp morning cereal is a treat. For luncheon, fresh pears stuffed or coated with cream and Rognonoff cheese mixture and served with a crisp salad, will contribute to a smart menu for the afternoon.

For the dinner cocktail, sliced fresh pear and balls of melon mixed with universal favor, and as for dessert, there are several which will start the gourmet talking. There is the simple matter of covering steamed chilled pears halves with a rich chocolate sauce or thin custard. A slight variation of this same

INFLATION VS PRICE CONTROL

Twenty five years ago this summer Canada was experiencing all disastrous effects of inflation. After the end of the first World War in November, 1918, in the absence of control, prices shot steadily upward as the public bid against each other for goods in short supply. Here are some of the prices which prevailed in the summer of 1920 compared with the average prices effective today under price control.

Sugar lb.	1920	1943
Lard lb.	25	295
Butter lb.	42	17
Potatoes, peck	87	39
Eggs, dozen	1.08	50
	88	46

Flour, 24 lb. bag 2.00 75

Milk, quart 15 10

Supporting price controls after World War II will prevent a repetition of World War I bank-breaking prices. You can help by strictly observing control regulations.

BLOOD DONOR SERVICE OF RED CROSS TO BE CLOSED

With the end of the war and the need for blood serum among the Armed Forces practically eliminated, it has been decided to immediately close the National Blood Donor Service of the Canadian Red Cross Society. Mr. Norman C. Urquhart, Chairman of the Society's National Executive Committee, announced recently.

At the same time, it was also decided by the National Executive Committee to make a three-month survey of the blood needs of all hospitals throughout Canada, looking to the possible early development of a peacetime National Blood Donor Service. For this survey, Mr. Urquhart said, the Society has retained the services of Dr. W. S. Stanbury, who during the war has been in charge of the blood service throughout Britain under the British Ministry of Health and is one of the foremost authorities in this field.

We are confident, said Mr. Urquhart, that the donors who have so freely given of their blood during the war years, will be ready and willing to make this same contribution in the future when this peacetime blood service is inaugurated.

It was pointed out that there is sufficient blood serum now on hand in Canada to cover veterans' needs and emergencies for the next six months at least.

"I would like at this time to express the Society's appreciation to the many thousands of donors who have given over 2,300,000 blood donations in the 662 Red Cross clinics and sub-clinics through the Dominion which are now closing. They have made a magnificent contribution," Mr. Urquhart said.

LIKE thousands of other Canadians, farmers will welcome the 9th Victory Loan as another opportunity to save money to provide for future plans.

Victory Loans have provided an excellent means of helping the war effort, at the same time contributing to our own personal welfare.

Canada needs more money now . . . to make loans to foreign countries so that they can establish credits which will enable them to buy food and other things which they require.

This food will come from Canadian farms; these goods from Canadian factories. When we help to create markets for our farm produce abroad . . . and when we help to keep Canadian factories busy . . . we help to maintain good prices for the things that Canadian farms produce.

Victory Bonds also provide a reserve fund of working capital for our own use . . . so handy to have so many times. Any bank will buy Victory Bonds at any time, or loan money on Victory Bonds if we need cash.

. . . and for our future plans, we'll have the money required for things we want to do . . .

Get ready to buy more Victory Bonds this Fall. Buy double this time—the same rate of savings as in previous loans will pay for twice as many bonds over the 12 month period.
